

It is traditional for folks in private business to bellyache about the paper-work and red tape of government bureaus but honesty compels us to admit to a growing doubt whether paper-work and red tape originated with the government men or were merely worrisome devices which they borrowed from their supposedly more efficient brothers operating in the world of free enterprise.

The suspicion first cropped up in my own thoughts when the Teletype corporation shipped The Star some item that cost less than a dollar and then billed us with an invoice in quadruplicate. Of course the giant Teletype corporation has some major users of communications equipment who require additional copies of each original invoice, and therefore every last customer of Teletype gets four copies whether he wants them or not.

This is a thought-provoking performance at my end of the line, a country newspaper office in a town of 8,005.

The quadruplicate invoice is merely the surface symptom of a record-keeping disease which is wide-spread — and especially in private business, according to a frank report by the National Records Management Council, a non-profit group which advises U. S. business on the management and reservation of corporate records.

At this point I can use the words of another newspaper which beat me to the discovery of the National Records survey. The Greenwood (Miss.) Commonwealth summarizes the organization's report as follows:

"Ninety-five per cent of all corporate paper-work filed is never consulted. American businessmen hoard useless documents. Records occupy annually 150 million dollars of office space and 150 to 250 million dollars of storage space. Obsolete records cost the country annually 300 millions.

"Its threefold recommendations are: Cut down the creation of unnecessary records, destroy 40 per cent of records on file, and divide the remainder between on-premise current files and archives where stored files may be readily accessible. Corporate bureaucracy is no less costly than government bureaucracy."

True. But I doubt if private business does any more about it than government does — all of us will go right on padding wearily through a paper sea.

Head Woman Sentenced to 12 Years

By RAY STEPHENS

DESAR (UP) — Linda Epperson Head was convicted yesterday of the rainbarrel drowning of her foster daughter, and sentenced to prison for 12 years.

A jury of Prairie County farmers found Mrs. Head guilty of second degree murder. She originally was charged with first degree murder, and Prosecutor J. B. Reed had demanded that she be executed.

The 33 year old mother heard the verdict without a visible show of emotion, but as elderly Judge W. J. Waggoner intoned the sentence she began weeping silently. It was her first time she had lost her composure since the trial began last Monday.

Asked by the judge if she had anything to say, Mrs. Head replied:

"I don't see why I have to be punished for something I have not done."

Mrs. Head and her husband, James Walter Head, both were charged with first degree murder in the drowning of 5-year-old Mary Wolfe. The child's bruised and lacerated body was found last Dec. 30 in a homemade rainbarrel near the couple's rented shack eight miles east of here.

Head, who fled the state and was captured in Kansas, has been adjudged insane, and is committed indefinitely to the State Hospital for Nervous Diseases.

Judge Waggoner sternly lectured Mrs. Head before he passed the sentence.

Unity of Americans Amazes Exchange English Students, But They Vision Danger

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (UP) — Well, rawther, old boy, as just don't go for a dry campus along the Thames.

"You can drink anything you want — if you can afford it, which you ordinarily can't," said one of Cambridge University's top debaters.

The British university exports two of its brighter, more vocal spirits every other year to America to make a debating tour.

The current duo, winding up a successful 30-debate tour—Alistair Sampson, 24, and Peter Mansfield, 24, found many things about our America hard to understand, and particularly college drinking rules.

"Take your theory of a dry campus," said Peter. "You know, that wouldn't go at all in England. Wine and spirits are for sale on

News Briefs

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Measles took another heavy toll in Arkansas for the week ended last Saturday.

The State Board of Health today reported 1,536 new cases for the week, compared with 1,058 the week before and 184 cases during the same week last year. The year's total now stands at 9,080, compared with 1,273 for the same period last year.

BOSTON, (INS)—One of the nation's top atomic scientists today admitted that in his young California college days he had been a member of the Communist Party. He accused Senate Red probes of deliberately avoiding asking him if he is now a Communist.

NEW YORK (UP)—House investigators have turned up testimony that the Communist party once had a military specialist lined up for the job of defense secretary in event of Red revolution in America.

Robert Gladnick, an ex-Communist and now an AFL organizer in Ohio and Kentucky, said yesterday he was part of a prewar Red campaign to build up the party's military resources.

HOUSTON (UP) — Dr. J. W. Storer of Tulsa, Okla., today was elected president of the Southern Baptist Convention.

The 66-year-old minister was chosen in a run-off with Dr. C. C. Warren of Charlotte, N. C. The election dominated the second day of the Baptist convention. The total vote was not announced.

Dr. Storer held a plurality over Dr. Warren and three other candidates in the nearly 15,000 votes cast on the first ballot.

BUENOS AIRES, (UP) — American radio Correspondent George Natanson was ordered to get out of Argentina today, a few hours after the government campaign against U. S. news agencies moved from newspaper columns to the floor of congress.

No reason was given for the expulsion of Natanson. The 31 year old NBC correspondent had not been a specific target of the week old campaign against American newsmen in the semiofficial press here.

MIAMI, Fla., (UP) — Five year old Katy Togay who swam five miles in the muddy Mississippi river at the age of 23 months died last night and police said they would make public today an autopsy report on the cause of death.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Tongay, refused to comment on the tiny swimmer's death but requested the autopsy.

Measles Cases on Upswing

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) — State health officials said today that Arkansas is undergoing its worst rash of measles in years, with 1,536 cases reported last week.

Cases reported up to last Saturday brought the year's total so far to 9,080, indicating the disease is about nine times more prevalent than at this time last year when there were only 1,273 cases.

However, health officials were not alarmed. They said this is the normal peak season for measles and the incidence of the disease is expected to begin falling next month.

They are accustomed to a system under which students are permitted more latitude. They can serve liquor in their rooms if they choose, and a man is free to entertain a woman student in his chambers without chaperon until midnight.

"I wouldn't say the same system would work at all in your country," said Peter. "You see, in England there are so few universities that the people who go there go

Another Delay in Blytheville Base

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (UP) — Another delay — the second this year — appeared in prospect today for the proposed Air Force base at Blytheville, Ark.

The latest holdup, a Capitol Hill source said, is due to an Air Force decision to mark time on a group of new bases until the Eisenhower administration decides on the future size of the Air Force.

This source said that Air Force officials, noting indications that the administration intends to cut back defense spending, have flashed a red light for Blytheville and several other bases.

DeGaulle Once Again Is on the Sidelines

By CHARLES LANE

PARIS (UP) — Gen. Charles De Gaulle once more was a lone figure on the sidelines of French public life today as he scuttled his ultraconservative political party after its shellacking in recent local elections.

The tall — 63 year old hero of World War II — announced last night that his followers — most important, 84 deputies in the National Assembly — could continue any political actions they wished, but under their own names only.

He emphasized that officially the Gaullist RPF — the Rally of the French People — was no longer a political party.

Instead, he said, he would return to his original crusade for the "regeneration" of France. The RPF now becomes an "advanced guard for regrouping the people to change the regime."

The inference was obvious — De Gaulle, apparently still hoped that eventually the French would get fed up with their multitude of parties and frequent changes of government and would turn to him as the "strong man."

Convinced Reds Are in U. S. Clergy

NEW YORK (UP) — Rep. Harold H. Velde (R-Ill.), chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, said today he is convinced hardened and well trained Communists have been planted in the American clergy.

He renewed his intention of investigating Communists whether they are "in overalls or in sanctified cloth."

Velde made his remarks in a speech prepared for delivery before the American Jewish League Against Communism, Inc.

"I say to you here today that if I find a Communist, whether he be in overalls or in sanctified cloth, I will see that he is investigated," Velde said.

Several thousand party faithful bought $100 tickets to hear him address the annual banquet of the New York State Republican Committee. Because of an overflow audience, two dinners were arranged, one at the Astor and the other at the Waldorf Astoria.

The President planned to address both of them, first at the Astor (about 7:25 p. m., CST) and then at the Waldorf (about 8:35). Both talks will be made from notes. There will be a live NBC radio broadcast of the Waldorf address. ABC will carry a recording of the Astor talk (8:35 p. m.) and so will CBS (9:45 p. m.)

Two Hempstead Convicts Paroled

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — The Arkansas Board of Paroles yesterday granted paroles to 51 convicts.

Those paroled, with county date of sentence and charge, include: Robert Lindsey, Hempstead, Dec. 30, 1952 assault with knife.

James Rufus Shaw, Hempstead, Feb. 11, 1952, burglary and grand larceny.

Four Freight Cars Derailed Here on MOP

Four cars of a Missouri Pacific freight train forced railway crews to jump from two motor cars, smashed the cars and went off the tracks when they hit a "derail" here this morning on a siding near Hope Brick Works.

Telephone lines were smashed and the crew cars were a total wreck. Luckily nobody was seriously injured, a spokesman said. Brakes on the boxcars apparently failed to hold and they were derailed when they hit the guard.

A derail keeps cars on a siding from going onto the mainline with out proper switching.

Other trains continued to run over the main line.

Reds Suddenly Retreat, Take Heat Off Laos

By LOUIS GUILBERT

HANOI, Indochina (UP) — Communist Vietnamese troops bucktraced northward through Laos today in a mysterious withdrawal and a French spokesman said the Reds may be abandoning their invasion of the ancient Indochinese kingdom.

French reconnaissance pilots reported Communist spearheads were retreating over mountain trails, abandoning the positions from which they had menaced the royal capital of Luang Prabang and the French defense bastion on the Plain Des Jarrest to the southeast.

A French high command spokesman said the surprise Vietnamese move appeared to indicate the Communists were giving up their invasion, and pulling back north before the rainy season — due to begin May 15 — bogs down operations.

The spokesman said the Communists

One Dies in Prison Break Attempt

EL RENO, Okla. (UP) — Guards opened fire on nine prisoners who made a desperate break from the federal reformatory here Wednesday, killing one and wounding two others.

The dead prisoner was identified as Raymond Sanford Craig, 23 year old Mayfield, Mo., convict imprisoned April 2 on an 18-month sentence for transporting a stolen vehicle across state lines.

Without warning, the prisoners broke from the playground area and ran toward a 12 foot fence which separates the yard from the rest of the reservation, Warden W. H. Hardwick said, adding:

"Craig was killed as he climbed the fence. The two others were wounded while attempting to scale the fence too."

The wounded men, not hurt seriously, were Dennis McCaslin, 18, Ft. Smith, Ark., and Raymond Louis Clary, 18, Fresno.

Those who scaled the fence were captured within an hour after the break.

New Chinese Proposal to Be Studied

By LEROY HANSEN

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP) — A Communist proposal that and Red prisoners be kept in Korea in custody of five neutral nations pending their final disposition was sent to Washington today for high level instructions.

Communist truce team chief Gen. Nam Il, in what appeared to be a major concession, proposed that Sweden, Switzerland, Poland, Czechoslovakia and India take charge of those prisoners who refuse to go back to their Red ruled homelands.

United Nations negotiators regarded Nam's eightpoint proposal as so important that they asked for a recess until Saturday in the truce talks so they could refer it to Washington for a decision.

For months the Communists had insisted that all untried prisoners must be transported bodily to a neutral country to await disposal.

India would be the key country in the setup, partly because it is a Southeast Asian country which has cautiously guarded its diplomatic balance as between West and East, partly because the new Red plan closely follows the Indian plan which the U.N. adopted in New York last Dec. 3. The Soviet bloc rejected the plan.

Nam submitted his proposal at a 20 minute truce meeting, the 11th since the talks were resumed last month.

By WILLIAM WAUGH

SEOUL (UP) — An American division staff officer today expressed the opinion that Communist spies are obtaining information on Allied troop movements in Korea "either in Washington or Japan."

"One night on the front the Reds broadcast across no man's land that our outfit was going to be pulled out of the line," the officer said. "We didn't even have the word at division yet. In fact, it was several days before we got the word."

They must have got the dope either in Washington or Japan!

The Communists, since the war has stabilized along a definite line, frequently broadcast to Eighth Army troops. It is not uncommon for the Reds to identify units, even down to company size level.

At the Panmunjom armistice talks, Communist correspondents frequently stifle U. N. correspondents with supposed secret information about U. N. troops.

The officer suggests that information must come from well back in the military pipeline of information because of the time element.

Little Fighting on the Front in Korea

By MILO FARNETI

SEOUL (UP) — U. N. and Communist armies facing each other across the twisting Korean War front seem to be operating these days under the philosophy: "Live and let live."

The general rule today is to pinch and jab the other fellow only enough to determine if he still lives there — quietly, under wraps.

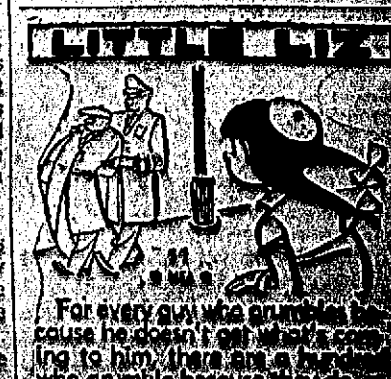

There is nothing to indicate that Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and Gen. Peng Teh-huai, American and Chinese ground commanders, are tuned in on the armistice negotiations at Panmunjom.

But neither do their infantrymen insist strongly on fighting once they meet on patrol in no man's land. Generally they walk out into the barren rice fields each day and night only to guard against any sudden assault on main lines.

American divisions reported only two brief touchings this morning on the Western Front, the key area on the peninsula for both armies.

Incomplete reports from divisions on this front listed only one Chinese casualty.

"I think the Chinese doughboys are like our boys," an Allied officer said. "They don't want to get bumped off now. It looks like they're acting on orders from higher up."

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK — A decline in the stock market today was held to moderate proportions.

The decline extended into the major fractions with plenty of reluctance developing along the way.

Business held at a low ebb around yesterday's 1,110,000 shares, lowest so far this year.

Automobiles related the decline along with utilities. Steels were a little lower and that also held true for oils, railroads, and most chemicals.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

CHICAGO — Selling which increased in intensity throughout the session knocked grain prices down for substantial losses on the Board of Trade today.

All wheat deliveries tumbled into new seasonal low ground with the May contract at a bottom price for any wheat future since mid-1950. All rye contracts also fell to new seasonal lows.

Heaviest losses occurred in soybeans, down several cents on fears the government would lower the support price for cottonseed oil.

Brokers attributed the decline to liquidation based on large supplies of grains, the failure of the market to show much rallying ability and news the Communists had offered a new plan for halting the fighting in Korea.

Wheat closed 1 to 10¢ lower, May $2.14½, corn to 1 cent lower, May $1.58½; oats ½-1½¢ lower, May 73½-75; rye ¼ to 3 cents lower, May $1.58½-¾. Soybeans ¾ to 4 cents lower, May $2.872-¾.

Barley nominal; malting 1.3003; feed 1.00-30.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK — Liquidation and hedging brought moderate declines in cotton futures today. Some selling was attributed to uncertainty over foreign developments. Late afternoon prices were 30 to 45 cents a bit lower than the previous close May 33.80, July 33.75, and Oct. 33.61.

Farmer Faces 18 Year Sentence

FAYETTEVILLE, (UP) — Jesse Barnes, 47, a farmer, faced 18 years in prison today for ambushing and attempting to kill a farmer neighbor last Feb. 18.

Barnes was convicted yesterday by a jury which deliberated only 37 minutes on the charge with intent to kill charge. The state called nine witnesses; the defense none.

Barnes was charged with wounding Warren Black, 68, a retired U. S. marshal, on the latter's farm near Black Oak. Black was killed by a shotgun blast fired from an bush.

Warships Hit Coast Held by Chinese

By WILLIAM WAUGH

SEOUL, R. — The mighty battle ship New Jersey and the cruiser Bremerton steamed boldly into coastal waters today and bombarded the battered Communist port and communication hub for the second time in three days.

Big guns of the two warships and an escorting destroyer opened up a few hours after dawn bombers from the carriers Princeton and Valley Forge heavily damaged an important Red metal processing plant in Northerly Korea, only 100 miles from Siberia.

Sea and air forces provided virtually the only action. Fighting along the twisting 155-mile battle front was at a virtual standstill.

The New Jersey's 16-inch rifles poured shell after shell into Communist artillery positions ringing the rubbled city. The Bremerton and destroyer Twining bombarded communications targets as well as gun batteries.

Planes from the Princeton and Valley Forge Wednesday demolished the main transformer station at the Komdok silver and lead processing plant northwest of the Communist port of Songkin, the Navy announced.

Corsairs and Skyraiders flew through a curtain of antiaircraft fire "so heavy we could get out and walk on it" to bomb the key metal plant.

Pilots and bombs landed squarely on several buildings and touched off three secondary explosions which could have been ammunition stores.

Vandenberg to Quit Airforce

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The White House announced today Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg is retiring as Air Force chief of staff and will be succeeded by Gen. Nathan F. Twining.

Twining at present is vice chief of staff. Assuming the Senate confirms his appointment, he will step up to the top Air Force post June 30, when Vandenberg's term expires.

This is the first change in the joint chiefs of staff since Eisenhower took office, and the White House gave no indication whether it would be followed by other changes.

Nominated to succeed Twining as vice chief of staff was Lt. Gen. Thomas D. Cresser, who would get a fourth star.

Twining's appointment is for the usual two years.

Two Americans Die in Ship Collision

HARWICH, England — Five persons lost their lives in the North Sea collision today between the U. S. ship Duke of York and the British freighter Duke of York.

Four bodies remained unidentified today, and it was feared that three American women may be among the dead.

Twelve passengers, including two U. S. Air Force officers, were injured, but approximately 700 passengers and crewmen were rescued from the 4,190-ton British ship after the collision with the 7,607-ton American freighter Duke of York 40 miles east of this port city.

Workers cut their way into the mangled hull of the Duke of York after tugs nudged the ship into a berth. The workers removed the bodies of two women and a man. A spokesman for British Railways, owner of the ship, said the body of another woman was discovered pinned in the wreckage.

Police found the passports of three American women in the wreckage of the ship. They were Miss Gilda Jordet of Rocky Ford, Colo., Miss Viola Larson of La Crosse, Wis., and Miss Ann Spring, for whom no home town was given. Miss Jordet and Miss Larson have been listed as missing since yesterday. Rescue workers said the third body still pinned in the wreckage may be that of Miss Spring.

The only victim identified thus far is Mrs. Argo Ansell, 54, an Englishwoman who died in a hospital last night.

HARWICH, England — Workmen found three bodies today in the mangled hull of the British steamer Duke of York, bringing to four the total of known dead from yesterday's pre-dawn ship collision in the North Sea. Twelve other persons, including two American Air Force officers, were injured.

Five hundred or more passengers and crewmen were rescued from the 4,190-ton British ship after she and the 7,607-ton American freighter Duke of York collided 40 miles east of this Southeast England port.

With only one of the known dead so far identified — an English woman — fear was expressed for the fate of two American women passengers on the Duke of York. As yet unidentified, they were Miss Gilda Jordet of Rocky Ford, Colo., and Miss Viola Larson of La Crosse, Wis. Their cabin was in the wrecked forward section of the North Sea ferry.

Probers Bare Tax-Fixing Attempts

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.

WASHINGTON — A story of tax-fixing attempts in California, which cash as a reward and murder as a threatened penalty, was unfolded today by Sen. McCarthy's Senate investigations subcommittee.

The subcommittee filed with the Senate a report containing high lights of testimony it took behind closed doors in the case of Russell W. Duke, West Coast public relations man cited for contempt by the Senate yesterday.

The report pointed toward a close connection between Duke and Edward P. Morgan, former general counsel to a Senate foreign relations subcommittee which investigated McCarthy's charges of Communistism in the State Department.

Morgan and Duke, the report said, exchanged "code" messages about tax cases and prospects for those tax cases. It said, however, that Morgan denied having any code arrangement with Duke.

The report said that in the "few cases" it cited "Russell W. Duke received a total of $32,500 in fees and approximately $2,500 in expenses, and approximately $13,700 in fees and $430 in expenses."

It said Morgan loaned Duke $500 July 22, 1949, and said that, according to testimony of Duke and Morgan, the loan was never repaid.

The Senate subcommittee for which Morgan was general counsel was headed by former Sen. Millard E. Tydings (D-MD), a bitter political foe of McCarthy.

The subcommittee in 1950 inquired into McCarthy's charges of Red infiltration of the State Department. Democrats on the subcommittee concluded the accusations were "a fraud and a hoax."

McCarthy retorted "whitewash" and campaigned against Tydings, who was defeated in 1950 by Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-MD).

'Super-Mart' New Feature of Sears

Designed entirely around the theme of convenience and efficiency, Sears, Roebuck and Co.'s revolutionary new Coldspot Super-Mart refrigerator is being introduced May 7 in the local Sears Catalog Sales Office, 216½ Main St.

From the freezer chest to the fancy food shelf on top, the completely automatic Super-Mart has been planned to bring into today's kitchen the all-around practicability of the super-market.

Taking a cue from the super-market, food storage in the 11.4 cubic foot super-market refrigerator is departmentalized as to type and temperature requirement, with the proper area and "cold" provided for every need.

"Sears engineers and home economists in planning this selective storage system designed the entire interior arrangement to give the greatest accessibility to the most frequently used items," Mrs. Able Enoch, Sears local manager explained.

The most revolutionary change in the new Super-Mart is locating the freezer chest at the bottom of the refrigerator compartment rather than at the conventional top. This places the chest in the coldest spot of the compartment and also frees the highly convenient top storage area for frequently used items.

Can Easily Get Diplomatic Dope

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Want to be a diplomat? To hobnob with kings and prime ministers? To take tea and crumpets with the humpbacks and striped blithes set?

Then you'd better know, among other things, that the New York Yankees won the 1952 World Series, that Tennessee Williams wrote "A Streetcar Named Desire" and that the earth is the third of the planets in order of distance from the sun.

These are some of the questions, culled at random, from a new booklet which is required reading for would-be ambassadors. It's the State Department's latest revision of sample questions from the examination given to foreign service applicants, and the Government Printing Office will sell you a copy for 15 cents.

Henderson Slaps 'Riders for 11-5 Win

The Henderson Reddies pounded out a 11 to 5 victory over Southern State in Legion field last night. Magnolia tallied two runs in the second on a single and a double by Watson and Tarkington along with two wild pitches, three walks, a hit batter and a double by Turner gave Henderson a 3-2 lead in the sixth stanza.

In the third the Mudcrabbers again took the lead 4-3 on Thomas' single, a triple by Jacobs and a double by Tarkington. Howard doubled for the Reddies in the same inning, took third on an infield out and stole home.

Gunter's single and an error by the 6th again tied the score but from there it was Henderson all the way on the slugging of Wells, Bratton, Anderson and Howard. Gene Leonard was the winning hurler with Jeff Williams charged with the loss.

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

GIBBONS was looking at his watch, a crowd on his broad, powerful face, when I arrived at the information booth in Union Station.

"You're late," he said. "Only by two minutes. The Rambler isn't due until four, anyway."

"Let's get a couple of papers," he said.

We strolled over to the newsstand, paying no attention to each other now, and bought the afternoon papers. Gibbons drifted over to the glassed partitions that faced the tracks, and I followed him, glancing over at the headlines. We stood that way, looking up at incoming trains and then back to our papers, as we talked.

"Shenk has no record," Gibbons said.

"He's never been caught, that's all."

"You sure he's carrying dope?" "No, but I think so."

We were silent a while. Then I said, "Everything tight on this end?"

"Yeah. The station is crawling with cops. I saw a pickpocket drift in about ten minutes ago, take one look around, and go tearing out like he was on fire."

I glanced around. I could pick a few of them out after a while. The big man in the blue suit, standing with a woman; the young fellow with golf clubs; the man sitting on benches with their hats on; and seemingly asleep—I could have been wrong but I tagged them as cops. Also, I saw Morrison, standing uneasily beside a piece of baggage, and occasionally glancing at his watch. Phillips, the Federal man, was on hand, too, wearing a sport jacket and a bow tie, and chatting with a pretty blond girl.

"Everything's set," Gibbons said. "There are cops driving the first six cabs in line, and a few of our men will be at the ramp to make sure that Shenk gets one of those cabs. The cop who gets Shenk is briefed to give us a hand signal as he goes out if Shenk is on his way to Ellerton's. If not we got a relay of cars to pick him up and follow anywhere he goes, even if he heads for Milwaukee."

"You got things set up at Ellerton's apartment?"

Gibbons nodded. "There's a telephone planted for one thing. And if Shenk heads out there we got it arranged to have a power failure in the building while he's on the way. Some electricians will go into Ellerton's apartment to check the wiring in the kitchen—and they're our boys, too. They got flash cameras with them to take pictures of Ellerton and Shenk together, and they'll witness the transaction of dope—if there is any."

"It sounds foolproof."

"We tried to get a camera set up in Ellerton's living room, but didn't have the time," he said. I glanced at my watch. Five of four.

"How about the rumors on the bad dope?"

"That's been going on since you left. We got a dozen stoolies out with that story, and three of four doctors backing 'em up. It's caused a rumble, believe me. Dopeys are afraid to buy, pushers are afraid to sell, and the word is that Ellerton—or the big boy, whoever he is—thinks he's being double-crossed by his Eastern supplier. Mr. Big is mad, we hear, real mad."

"Let's hope we can add to his troubles," I said.

The station announcer cleared his throat with a metallic cough, and said, "Arriving on Track Two, the Pennsylvania's Rambler from New York. The Rambler, arriving on Track Two. Passengers will depart through gate number four." He repeated the message twice.

There was a stir of movement in the huge station. Persons meeting arriving passengers drifted over toward gate four, and among them was the big man in the blue suit, and the youngster with the golf clubs.

In a moment or so the Rambler rolled into the train shed, its headlight glaring through the smoky gloom. From where I was standing we could watch the passengers who would leave the train and make their way up to gate four. There was a wait of several moments before the first of them appeared, and the thin straggling trickle thickened. Three and four abreast, with redneps darting between them, the passengers from the Rambler hurried toward the waiting room of the station.

"Damn it," I said.

"What's the matter?" Gibbons said.

I pointed. "There he is, the one with black coat."

"You sound surprised."

"I am."

Gibbons stared close at me. "What's the gag, Camille? You checked him through Philly. Why are you surprised that he's here?"

"Never mind, I'll tell you later."

Shenk carried a suitcase in his right hand, and a brief case under his left arm, hugged close to his body. He wore a black homburg, and his bold swarthy face was expressionless as he moved toward the gate.

"Let's don't lose him," I said. "I'll go over and finger him as he comes through," Gibbons said. "My men will pick him up then."

Gibbons strolled off toward the gate, still glancing at his paper. When Shenk appeared Gibbons got behind him, nodded at him, and then drifted off, still apparently engrossed in his paper.

Shenk moved out of the crowd and glanced around in all directions, nothing of anything showing in his face. Perhaps his instincts told him something was wrong; he put his suitcase down, frowning slightly, still staring about as if he expected to meet someone. After a moment or so he picked up the suitcase and walked to a bench and sat down. He was a few feet away from two cops. They got up and strolled away after a bit, and Shenk stared after them, a worried line above his eyes. I was standing out of his line of sight, behind a pillar, but I could check him by moving my head an inch or so. He was looking carefully at the people who went by him, and glancing over his shoulder every now and then. I saw Gibbons coming back across the station. Passing the information booth, he stopped to light his cigar. It must have been a signal, for the big man with the woman took her arm and headed for the

Walcott May Flit Through With Rocky

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, P. — The suspicion is growing that Jersey Joe Walcott will flit through the greatest boxing ballet of his career in his attempt to dethrone Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano.

It was with the disdain and pride of a champion that Walcott landed an upstart Marciano at Philadelphia last September in a tremendously thrilling bout that ended in a stunning 13th round knockout of Jersey Joe.

Now Jersey Joe knows different. Rocky can be hit but not hurt. He won't say so, but everything about his preparation for his May 15 return bout with Marciano at Chicago Stadium indicates that Walcott is ready to hit and run as only this remarkable ring ancient knows how.

Even without his first-round knockdown of Marciano, Walcott would have been well ahead on points through 12 rounds at Philadelphia.

In the course of his brutal tortoise slugging with the Brooklyn, Mass., Blockbuster, Walcott got himself cut in the left eye, blood from which he claims blinded him to the 13th-round roundhouse right which felled him like an axed steer.

All these things have been weighed carefully in the Walcott camp, close observers say, and Jersey Joe will be out to dance and jab Marciano into an out-pointed loser.

He did this in his title defense against Ezzard Charles, a much younger foe who remembered too much that Walcott carried an explosive punch in their previous meeting, which cost Charles the championship.

Even Walcott's trainer, Dan Florio, admits that if Walcott fights Marciano the way he defended his title against Charles, "It'll be a walkaway — a real walkaway for Jersey Joe."

Florio won't disclose Walcott's strategy. He even claims that Jersey Joe is training the same way now as he did before the battle in Philadelphia.

But one Walcott camp follower points out significantly that Walcott scored at least 15 knockdowns preparing for the first meeting with Marciano. This time, that has happened only once or twice.

Now Walcott is training to move, move, move. He constantly is rolling with punches. He keeps working off the ropes as elusively as possible. He uses his famed "Walcott shuffle," suddenly breaking into a nonchalant walk and then sneaking over a fast right.

Chile has a population of about six million.

Wants Exact Figure on Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Sen. Harold E. Stassen today demanded that the Eisenhower administration "get down to brass tacks" and tell him how much it intends to spend on foreign aid in the year beginning July 1.

Stassen brought into the open the budgetary effort Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) was reported making to get spending by the Mutual Security Administration (MSA) in the fiscal year below this year's level.

Secretary of State Dulles and Under Secretary Harold E. Stassen today made a preliminary request for $5,020,000,000 in new appropriations for the program.

you see, a cottage is like a little house. So they put the cheese in a little box. The little box is like a little house, too, so they just call it cottage cheese. That is why?"

She watched anxiously while her friend knotted her brows, thinking hard, and then said, nodding.

"Yes, cottage cheese, now I know."

The two dummy old ladies smiled

I came to a street corner...
